MSAA COOLING PROGRAM CATALOG

There are many products designed to help people with MS experience cooling relief. These products use different methods to create a cooling effect. These include:

- Evaporative Cooling: Products are soaked in cool water and towel dried. This activates crystals inside and evaporation lowers the temperature of the product (not recommended for humid climates);
- Ice Pack Cooling: Ice packs are frozen at 32 degrees and inserted into the product's pockets or pouches;
- Gel Pack Cooling: Gel packs are frozen at 45 degrees and inserted into the product's pockets or pouches (this is helpful if you travel and have access to a portable cooler);
- Cooling Therapy: Cool water is pumped through tubs sewn into a vest. This type of cooling is considered a therapy and requires a doctor's prescription for usage.

This catalog divides products into three categories:

- I. Cooling Kits
- II. Cooling Accessories
- III. Cooling Therapy

Important Notes:

- This catalog is to help you see and understand the cooling products offered by MSAA. Full product descriptions are contained on the Cooling Application. Please use the application (not this catalog) to place your order.
- Please make your selection(s) carefully as there are no returns or exchanges.
- Vest sizes are based on a person's weight.
- Please call MSAA at 800-532-7667 if you have any questions.
